Roughan Interior Design

Creating “interiors to live by”, interior designer, Christine Sullivan Roughan has built an international reputation for infusing each space she creates with her modern/traditional signature style while tailoring those interiors to meet the individual needs of each client she works with.

Based in Greenwich, Connecticut, Roughan (pronounced Rowan), says she “helps her clients find their style by having them complete a RID (Roughan Interior Design) exercise at the start of a project which extracts their aesthetic and design preferences”. Roughan stated, “that it’s through these initial meetings that she and her team are able to truly understand the client’s lifestyle so that when the space is designed, each room represents who they are and what is really important to them. “Good design is all about functionality,” she added.

The spaces we see here were all part of full home renovations handled completely by Roughan and her firm. Carpets from Patterson, Flynn and Martin have been used and Oscar De La Renta drapery fabric from Lee Jofa can be seen gracing some of the windows. New wall coverings, paint colors, decorative furnishings and accessories define the spaces infusing them with a sense of casual elegance. “It’s very important that our clients see a completed space which includes styling and accessories,” she said. A rich mix of textures and finishes fill each space allowing the true personality of each room to shine through.

Functional and fashionable, these Roughan interiors take on a life of their own and enhance the lives of those that live within them.
