Roughan Interior Design

Chris Roughan's Darien client wanted a colorful but transitional space that would grow with her three children, yet also be functional. This room had to play the role of sleepover and guest area, hang out spot, homework nook, and general fun space. Roughan took these directives and ran, injecting color with punchy Quadrille shades and pillows, a custom striped rug, an apple green Eames desk chair and a vibrant print by Paule Marrot. Special touches include a coated linen game table and two covered cubbies—one used as a secret hideout, the other to cleverly store electrical equipment. A mix of mod furniture was also key in the design. A pair of royal blue Saarinen womb chairs, a whimsical Arco floor lamp designed by Castiglioni for Flos, Cherner chairs and a classic Saarinen Tulip coffee table playfully animate the space. "We achieved a nice balance by blending iconic mid-century furnishings into a traditional-style home," says Roughan. —MF
